WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

We are delighted that this year's Annual Conference is back in person and back to our usual stomping ground of beautiful Galway for 2022.

How wonderful it is, at long last, to be able to look forward to meeting colleagues and friends for a weekend of education and fun after two years of turmoil. This year, more than ever before, the Annual Conference will be a great opportunity for you to bring your dental team for a sociable and entertaining team-building experience.

The health and safety of our attendees, exhibitors and partners is at the forefront as we plan for the 2022 Annual Conference. It is our top priority to ensure that the conference is organised in accordance with the current public health guidelines. We will of course keep delegates and trade representatives updated on all guidelines closer to the time.

I am especially grateful to this year's Conference Committee, chaired by past President Dr Kieran O'Connor, and including Drs Aoife Crotty, Rory Boyd and Will Rymer, who have put together a stellar line-up of national and international speakers and presenters for this year's event.

We are delighted to have on our programme this year such distinguished speakers as Markus Blatz, Wally Renne, StJohn Crean, Jim Grisdale and Saoirse O'Toole, as well as many, many more.

As in previous years, we will have two programmes running simultaneously on Friday and Saturday so delegates can choose which to attend. A full dental nurses' programme will also take place on Saturday.

We welcome back all our trade supporters and sponsors for Annual Conference 2022. It seems like a lifetime since we met with trade attendees and got to see all of the new and advanced products and equipment on the market.

The AGM of the GP Group will take place on Friday, May 13, at 12.15pm. The AGM of the IDA will take place on Thursday evening at 6.30pm. All members are welcome to attend.

Our golfers will take to the tees on Thursday, May 12, to play for the annual President's Prize at Galway Golf Club. There are also some reserved tee times on Wednesday for those doing pre-Conference courses.

Don't forget our Annual Dinner, which will take place on Friday night at the Galmont Hotel. All are welcome.

Make sure to include 'Re-connect' in your calendar of events for 2022; we look forward to seeing you all in Galway in May.

Dr Caroline RobinsPresident Elect

The CAD/CAM ceramic update in aesthetic dentistry Prof. Markus Blatz

FULL-DAY LECTURE (9.30am - 5.30pm)

The recent evolution in CAD/CAM and ceramic technologies offers a whole new range of aesthetic, less invasive, and long-lasting treatment options. However, there are still many questions. What are the best materials considering the large variety of ceramics available today? What ceramics can be used with chairside CAD/CAM systems? Do different ceramics require specific laboratory and clinical treatment? What cements or bonding protocols should I use for the different ceramics to avoid failures? Is all zirconia the same? Can I bond to zirconia and make resinbonded bridges? What are the best materials on implants and why? And, where is the scientific evidence on all these topics? This presentation will answer such questions and provide an update on aesthetic treatment options with ceramics, from conservative partial-coverage laminate veneers and onlays to resin-bonded bridges and implant-supported restorations.

Learning objectives

Attendance at this session should improve the understanding of:

- differentiating modern ceramic materials and their indications;
- CAD/CAM technology and its diverse applications in aesthetic dentistry;
- strategies for success with ceramic restorations for teeth and implants based on the current scientific evidence; and,
- clinical guidelines for long-lasting aesthetic restorations, from laminate veneers and onlays to resin-bonded bridges and implant-supported restorations.

Crown lengthening for predictable aesthetic and functional restorative treatment outcomes

Dr Jim Grisdale

HALF-DAY HANDS-ON WORKSHOP (9.00am – 1.00pm and 2.00pm – 6.00pm)

Indications and contraindications for crown lengthening will be addressed. The concept of biologic width and ferrule effect as it applies to crown lengthening will be covered. Proper case selection, flap types and management, from incisions, flap elevation, and osseous surgery, to suturing techniques, will also be presented. This course is a must for all dentists who are providing aesthetic and functional crown restorations to their patients.

Learning objectives

Attendance at this session should improve the understanding of:

- diagnosing and treatment planning patients for both aesthetic and functional crown lengthening;
- recognising the indications and contraindications for crown lengthening;
- the principles of biologic width and ferrule effect, and how they apply to functional and aesthetic crown lengthening; and,
- flap designs, principles of osseous surgery, suturing techniques and postoperative care for crown-lengthening procedures.

Autism: removing the barriers to successful dental

Autism is a prevalent condition that affects how a person communicates with and relates to people around them. Many issues can arise in a dental surgery when treating an autistic patient, in part due to the huge sensory overload that dental treatment presents.

This lecture presents an insight into the challenges faced by autistic patients when attending a dental surgery or receiving dental treatment. We will offer some helpful techniques and tools that the dental team can use to help autistic patients to access dental care. On completion of this lecture, the attendee will have a greater understanding of autism, along with a practical guide on how to help their dental team and autistic patients to navigate any obstacles to successful dental care.

Medical emergencies in the dental surgery

Dental practice places many stressful demands upon the modern-day dental professional, not least of which is to manage the anxiety created in their patients undergoing, in some cases, complex treatments. The nature of patients in the 21st century means that many carry medical conditions known and unknown. Understanding and managing these medical conditions, especially when they become an acute emergency, is now an expected skill of every modern dental professional. This talk will outline a range of medical emergencies that the general public expects their dental professional to be able to recognise and manage competently.

Exhumation of mass graves: why we bother

Chris was asked in the early 1990s to be a member of the Australian Government Attorney General's Special Investigation Unit to uncover two mass graves in the Ukraine as part of the Australian Government's war crimes trials. Much later, working for the United Nations in East Timor, he was part of a team recovering the bodies of the young victims in the Occusi massacre. This talk will outline some of the experiences learned from uncovering these mass graves, with regard to the fragility of democracy espoused by the American philosopher Noam Chomsky.

This lecture will present the latest version of the P-line system.

Learning objectives:

- the principles of profiloplasty and the P-line system;
- the limitations of treatment using dermal fillers;
- non-surgical vs surgical treatment;
- how best to meet patient expectations; and,
- the importance of a full-face approach vs singleregion treatment.

Autism: removing the barriers to successful dental care

Autism is a prevalent condition that affects how a person communicates with and relates to people around them. Many issues can arise in a dental surgery when treating an autistic patient, in part due to the huge sensory overload that dental treatment presents. This lecture presents an insight into the challenges faced by autistic patients when attending a dental surgery or receiving dental treatment. We will offer some helpful techniques and tools that the dental team can use to help autistic patients to access dental care. On completion of this lecture, the attendee will have a greater understanding of autism, along with a practical guide on how to help their dental team and autistic patients to navigate any obstacles to successful dental care.
