WORKSHOP

Infection control

 HENRY SCHEIN®

Since April 2015, a new code of practice in Infection Prevention and Control from the Irish Dental Council has been in place. With this in mind, the IDA is offering practical hands-on infection control workshops for all dental team members.

With support from Henry Schein, a full decontamination room/area will be in situ and delegates will be walked through the entire process. A detailed explanation will be provided of good practice in equipment layout in the decontamination area, with guidance on testing and essential documentation, all linked with the new Code. There will also be an opportunity to ask questions on specific areas of concern. It is the responsibility of all dental practitioners to ensure that their dental surgery is compliant with the new Code of Practice.
